Cooper Skat

Engagement Manager

Cooper is an Engagement Manager at SVA Consulting.

Within the Analytics team, Cooper specializes in data strategy, data visualization, data engineering, and process automation. He partners with clients across a wide range of industries (including financial services, life sciences, professional services, manufacturing, and technology) to help them transform how they use data to drive business decisions.

Cooper works with organizations to assess their existing analytics landscape, then designs and implements tailored data stacks that fit their needs and budgets. He develops comprehensive data strategies that serve as blueprints for full-scale analytics initiatives, builds the infrastructure necessary to centralize and integrate data, and delivers actionable reporting solutions such as dashboards to surface insights for decision-makers.

In addition to full-lifecycle analytics engagements, Cooper supports clients through more ad hoc initiatives, including creating custom dashboards and automating key processes to enhance operational efficiency. His approach is highly collaborative and results-focused, ensuring that clients achieve not only technical success but also measurable business impact.
