Jaclyn Wegener

Engagement Manager

Jaclyn is an Engagement Manager at SVA Consulting.

She specializes in information technology, systems assessment, data flow, project management, and software implementation. With a strong background in evaluating and improving enterprise systems, she brings a structured, analytical approach to helping organizations optimize technology and data strategies.

Jaclyn works extensively with clients in the healthcare, life sciences, and medical device industries, where she leads systems and data analytics commercialization assessments. She partners with cross-functional teams to evaluate an organization's stage in the commercialization journey, then designs clear system roadmaps to guide next steps. Her work ensures clients are well-prepared for resource planning, system integration, and data management as they scale.

Beyond assessment, Jaclyn plays a hands-on role in executing solutions. She advises on vendor selection, supports software implementation, and facilitates system coordination to ensure technology investments align with business goals. Her ability to connect strategy with execution makes her a trusted partner for clients navigating complex technology environments in highly regulated industries.
